

PSYCHO-SOCIAL REHABILITATION

The PSR Program provides mental health treatment along with daily living skills, education, and support to people who have serious mental health problems. The intense structure of this program is designed to help these individuals improve functioning in the community and to reduce more expensive psychiatric hospitalizations. The program also adds the component of peer support and job readiness training.